

THE LAND WE LIVE IN.

WHAT THE PEOPLE ARE DOING, SAYING AND THINKING.

The Small-Pox Developed in Chattanooga—The Florida Railroad—Municipal Election in Georgia—The Sweetwater, Tennessee Tragedy—The Opinions of the State Press.

RAINSBROOK, January 8.—[Special].—Hon. R. E. Russell was on Saturday again and without opposition elected mayor of our city. M. M. Paul, M. O'Neil, H. C. Carry, H. Neisbaum, John D. Harral and A. E. Smith were elected aldermen. Quite a lively race for justice of the peace for $100, town district, took place between W. G. D. Tonge and Joseph Ingram. The latter received seven majority. Railroads, turpentine farms and timber cutters have taken off the majority of our hands and left our farmers in a bad condition. Hon. D. A. Russell and E. M. Bryan, Boyington and Fleming have opened large turpentine farms within seven miles of town. Professor Henry of Mahabatch, Texas, takes charge of our academy Monday, assisted by his accomplished lady and Miss Emma Smallwood.

MILLEDGEVILLE, January 9.—[Special].—T. W. Green, 75 years old, a well-known citizen of this county, died Friday last. Mr. Thomas H. Whitaker, a lawyer from La Grange, is in our city, having come to the funeral of his mother, relict of Mr. J. C. Whitaker, for many years county surveyor of Baldwin county. She died at her son-in-law's, Dr. Hardeman's, residence in Jones county. She was a sister of Hon. B. H. Bigham, of Troup. About 1500 of the able-bodied men of our county have left for the Florida railroad, now being built by Hon. A. J. Lane.

LAWRENCEVILLE, January 10.—[Special].—An election for town commissioners to serve during the present year was held here today with the following result: Hon. Sam J. Winn, 65; W. L. Vaughan, 53; Wm. E. Brown, 49; W. L. Brand, 34. Mr. L. A. Adair, 29. The election is a good one, and deserves the hearty approbation of all good citizens, for it gives assurance of an honest, impartial and economical administration of the laws.

NORCROSS, January 9.—[Special].—At an election for town commissioners, held on Saturday, January 7, 1882, Norcross elected the following "dry" ticket: J. C. Brown, William Bell, Henry Phillips, P. C. Connelley. After giving bar rooms one year's trial, Norcross has returned to her old love. Like the organ-grinder, she "knows the value of peace and quietness."

HARTWELL, January 9.—[Special].—Married last week, at Cartersville, Mr. William B. Sadler, a prominent merchant and citizen of Hartwell, to Miss Emma C. Jones, daughter of Rev. Mr. Jones, of Cartersville. Mr. Jones is a Methodist minister of Cartersville. Died, yesterday, Mr. Madison C. Temples, son of Mr. C. W. Temples, of Hartwell.

MARIETTA, January 10.—[Special].—Yesterday the city election was held and the following mayor and council were elected: Mayor, E. Denmead; council, A. C. Clay, H. S. Anderson, W. E. Gamling, T. W. Glover, J. W. Henderson and N. N. Grober. The issue was "wet" or "dry," and "wet" carried the day by a large majority.

What the Papers Say.

THE PRICE PAID.

We confidently expected that Mr. William Dewberry, of our county, would be awarded the prize of $1,000 for the best ginned bale of cotton at the exposition, but he was disappointed. Messrs. Watkins & Houston, Panola county, Mississippi, were awarded the $1,000 prize for the best bale, and the $100 for the best Georgia bale was awarded to W. S. Sanford, of Floyd county. There are some facts, to which we desire to call attention in this matter. We believe injustice has been done Mr. Dewberry. The premium list contained an offer of $1,000 premium for the best prepared bale of cotton. Nothing was said about the length of the staple. As the prize was for upland cotton it was a natural conclusion that the length of the staple was not to be taken into account, but the object was to show how cleanly and nicely a bale of cotton could be made. If Mr. Dewberry was ruled out because the staple exhibited by him was not as long as the others, this fact should be stated. We do not believe such to be the case, but think that the judges were made to believe that the cotton was unduly manipulated.

SMALL-POX IN CHATTANOOGA.

Chattanooga Times.

Saturday afternoon a white man, giving his name as Dan Murray, applied to city physician Parrish for permission to enter the city hospital, stating that his leg had been badly burned at the Roane iron works and that he was very ill from other causes. The appearance of the man confirmed his statements, and he was granted the permit. The city physician examined him later in the afternoon and made the startling discovery that the man had well-developed symptoms of small-pox. He at once notified Dr. Sims, a member of the state board of health, who visited the patient Saturday night, and also pronounced the disease to be small-pox. The case continued to develop slowly and yesterday morning, concealment longer was impossible. As soon as the other inmates became aware of the fact, the three who were able at once left the hospital and reported to Alderman Dugger that it was an imposition to expose them to the danger of the disease. As soon as the fact became known that the inmates were at large, police were put on their track; two were found and were compelled to return to the hospital. The third cannot be found, and if infected will expose the entire city to danger. The police are keeping a sharp lookout for him, and as soon as he can be apprehended he will be quarantined.

Dr. Parrish is being severely criticised for placing the patient in the city hospital. He says in exonerating that the reason he did it was that the pest-house was not in a condition to receive him, being without doors, windows, or any convenience. The house is now being put in as good condition as its wretched character will admit, and the patient will be removed to it as soon as it is ready. The city ordinances require the city physician to file a written application with the chairman of the hospital committee or the mayor before anyone can be admitted to the hospital. This Dr. Parrish failed to do, and he is not the slightest authority to place the patient in the hospital without such permission. There are numerous isolated houses, such as the one at the foot of Lookout mountain where Mr. Schmitz was quarantined a few weeks since when venereal disease had been developed on him, where the patient could have been placed, without exposing six others to the disease and imperiling the entire city. We may be so fortunate as to escape any further cases, but the imprudence of certain city officials certainly has not saved us from an epidemic.

THE SWEETWATER TRAGEDY.

Columbus Enquirer.

KNOXVILLE, January 7.—A special to the Tribune from Sweetwater brings intelligence of a terrible tragedy enacted there today. Thomas G. Boyd, mayor of Sweetwater, forty-two miles west of Knoxville, was shot and killed this morning about 11 o'clock, by his nephew, Joseph L. Boyd, son of Mrs. M. A. Boyd. Joseph L. Boyd and his brother, Alban A. Boyd, have been engaged in business in Columbus, Georgia. The latter removed to Sweetwater and died very suddenly, last Thursday morning. Joe Boyd came up to attend the funeral and wind up Alban's business. He had a conference with Thomas Boyd this morning. Hot words passed. It seems that Thomas G. had a check of Alban's for $700, which the latter had refused to cash. Joe asked Thomas to receipt the check, which the latter refused to do. Joe insisted, when Tom said excitedly, "Do you intend that I would swindle my own brother?" He rose from his chair at the same time, when Joe Boyd drew a pistol and shot Thomas G. Boyd through the heart. As Tom fell Joe backed out of the room, discharging two more shots at the residence of Mrs. Alban A. Boyd, in the presence of this lady and one other witness. Joe Boyd immediately surrendered himself to the authorities. Thomas Boyd was the notorious pension agent, who was convicted of bringing fraudulent claims against the government several years ago. Pending his trial he fled to Canada, after having burned the dead body of a man to a brush heap, intending to leave the impression that he had been murdered. He was discovered, captured, convicted and served four years in the penitentiary at Nashville. Since then he has been a good citizen, winning the respect of the people of Sweetwater, and doing a prosperous business. To prevent his property from falling into the hands of a nephew, who died while Tom was in the penitentiary, Tom brought suit against the estate and recently regained the property, leaving his relative a family penniless. This is supposed to have been the real cause of Joe Boyd's feeling against his uncle, and prompted the murder he committed this morning.

The above dispatch from the American shows that the surprise of the Enquirer-Sun as to the cause which led to the unfortunate killing, was correct. A letter received in this city yesterday, from a sister of Joe Boyd, states that the killing was done in self-defense, and that Joe's friends certainly had no unreasonableness about the result of the trial. They believe that it will be shown that he took the life of Thomas Boyd to save his own, as he was advancing on him with an uplifted chair. The trial will probably take place today or tomorrow. Mr. Peabody, of this city, will conduct the case for the defense.

RAILROAD CHANGES IN FLORIDA.

Florida Times.

The following communication from Sir Edward J. Reed was received at the Times office last night, and will be read with keen interest. It speaks for itself, and needs no comment: Sir Edward J. Reed presents his compliments to the editor and begs to request him to be good enough to state in his next issue that there is no truth whatever in the rumor that the different consolidated boards of the Florida railroads, with which he is connected, have been arranged and the officers thereof appointed. As regards the Florida Central and Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile railroads, the question of their consolidation, which will probably take place shortly, is now under consideration, but so far as the board of managers of the united roads is concerned, all that at present can be stated with truth and authority is that Sir Edward J. Reed is now concerned, Sir Edward Reed has consented to become the president. No other directors and no officers whatever of the united companies have been appointed; and as every director of the united roads is now under consideration of the roads requires both careful consideration and some little time—measured, at least, by weeks.

As regards the Transit road, the Peninsula and the Tropical roads, the same cannot apply. Their consolidation into a single system is contemplated and is under careful consideration, and will be pressed forward as much as it is found possible, but up to the present moment, the constitution of the united companies remains separate. In this case, also, Sir Edward Reed is eventually to become chairman of the combined roads, and all statements to the contrary are unfounded. The board of the united roads, and of the future board of the united roads, and of the officers who will be employed by the board are premature and unauthorized. It is perfectly true that the board of the Florida central railroad, which road has been passed for a time into the hands of Sir Edward Reed only, and the boards of the Transit, Peninsula and Tropical railroads, have each been lately considerably modified, but the modifications affect in each case the organization of the individual road only, and have little or nothing to do with any future boards which may be formed for the management of the roads when they are consolidated. It may be interesting and useful for Sir Edward Reed to state that, in so far as his influence goes and that of his friends, it will be exerted in favor of increasing the public convenience by running the various lines of the state in the best possible relationship, with through carriages and tickets and other conveniences, wherever a due regard to the business success of the roads will allow. Nothing will be done or attempted which has for its object anything other than business success and public convenience, and it is in that spirit that the roads will hereafter be managed.

Sir Edward Reed does not doubt that the public of the state of Florida will regard the new developments, which are in contemplation, with patience and confidence, and in the meantime direct all rumors that conflict with these objects; and Sir Edward Reed is able today that the views above expressed, as to the future management of the roads, are heartily sympathized with by all those who are now engaged in providing for such consolidations as may be found desirable. Jacksonville, January 7, 1882.

ATLANTA ABOVE ESLOUGH.

Position Buildings to Measure, as a Magnificent Scheme, as Dollar Cotton Factories Have to Say.

EDITORIAL REPORTER went out yesterday and out, if possible, what was the object of the purchase of the exposition property made the day before by Mr. F. P. Rice and Mr. R. H. Richards, from the executive committee of the cotton exposition.

The reporter found Mr. Rice first. He was preparing to make a trip to Florida, and leave by the train to-day, to be absent from the city for two weeks or ten days. He was busy picking out fishing tackle, and was carefully examining a hunting outfit. He had just put on a jaunty outfit, canvassed hunting coat of English pattern, to see if it would fit, and was playing the dealer about the price, when the reporter walked up.

Pending his negotiation for the coat we said to him:

"You have purchased the buildings and other property of the cotton exposition, Mr. Rice?"

"Yes," he replied; "Mr. Richards and myself purchased the property. The CONSTITUTION stated this morning substantially the contract we made. The money has been placed in the Atlanta national bank to-day to complete the purchase when the titles are made."

"What do you propose to do with your purchase?"

"We purchased the property to keep it from being torn down and scattered. There are several men with capital in the city who are anxious to invest their money in manufacturing and a strong company can be organized at once to fill these buildings with proper machinery, and it will be done if proper arrangements can be made."

"Do you mean by that if the money can be raised?"

"No, sir; there are twenty-five men ready now to organize a joint stock company of half a million dollars capital to commence manufacturing in these buildings. The land on which the buildings stand in Oglethorpe park belongs to the city of Atlanta. Before we invest any more money in machinery we will have to make some arrangement with the city for the land on which the buildings inside the park stand."

"Do you mean that you want the city to give the land to a company?"

"No, sir. I would not have them give it. I am a taxpayer, and want every dollar that they go to pay its debts. It will maketaxes lighter, and that is one reason why I want to get manufacturing established here. It will increase our population and lessen the taxes. I want the city to sell the land at a fair and reasonable price."

"It depends then on the purchase of the land whether a company is organized."

"It does."

"Suppose the city refuses to sell the land and you can't agree on the price?"

"Then no one is hurt. We will tear down the buildings and sell out the material for just what we can get for it."

With this we left Mr. Rice to complete his purchase and went to find Mr. Richards.

The reporter found Mr. Richards busy with the stockholders of the Atlanta national bank, yesterday being the annual meeting of the stockholders of this bank. He is a large stockholder and a director in the bank.

"What do you propose to do with your purchase of the property of the International cotton exposition?" we asked.

"We propose to fill the buildings with machinery, if we can get the land at a proper price."

"Do you mean that you and Mr. Rice will buy machinery for that purpose?"

"Mr. Rice and myself will organize a joint stock company, with a capital of a half million dollars, if necessary, to put the machinery in these buildings."

"Raise the money here in Atlanta?"

"Yes, here in Atlanta, every dollar of it."

"Can it be done?"

"Certainly. It can be done in two days. Atlanta must commence manufacturing on a large scale, if we expect to keep up. Our merchants must have customers, and our laborers work. We have got all the railroads we can hope for for a while. They want business. The owners of real estate want tenants, and when we commence to manufacture here there will be no end to the prosperity of the city. I did not mean to purchase the property, but I am willing to go into a good joint stock company as an investment."

"Suppose you cannot purchase the land from the city?"

"Then we will close out our purchase for what we can get for it. There is nothing compulsory about our proceedings in this matter so far as the city is concerned, and nothing but what we are willing to lay before the public. We are willing to pay a fair price for the land for the purpose indicated—if we fail to agree when we will sell out our purchase for what it will bring."

"When do you propose to move in this matter?"

"I cannot say. I am compelled to be absent from the city for a while on important matters, and Mr. Rice is going to Florida. We will return inside of three weeks. We have deposited the money in the Atlanta national bank to pay for the purchase, and have instructed our attorneys to execute the deed and to make the purchase as we desire to associate with us. When this is done, we will confer with the city council and others who contemplate investing in a cotton factory with us, and the matter can be settled in short order."

With this we left Mr. Richards.

In walking back the reporter met Mr. Richards and told him what had been said.

"I will subscribe to a cotton factory," said Mr. Peters. "I think such men as Rice and Richards, and it will do more for Atlanta to get up a factory, such as you speak about, than any thing that can be done. It has been demonstrated," said Mr. Peters, "that steam, where coal can be had for three dollars per ton, is cheaper than water power. We have the healthiest climate in the south, and we only need to start the ball and Atlanta will have one hundred thousand inhabitants in less than ten years."

We next met Mr. Hugh T. Inman, and spoke to him about the purchase.

He said that he had been spoken to on the subject, and had said that he was willing to join a good company if proper titles could be obtained for the land in Oglethorpe park, but that he was not willing to invest money in machinery and take a lease. "I told a man," said Mr. Inman, "a month ago, that I would raise sixty per cent of the stock for a good cotton factory here. We must develop what we have been purchasing in the south. If we wait for others to come here and do it, it will never be done. We want cotton factories, cotton-seed mills, and all kinds of factories, and all kinds of population and that will increase our population and take the value of every dollar's worth of property in the city."

"This, then, is the object of the purchase. If we have a huge factory, or a big pile of second-hand lumber? We will wait and see."

Walter S. Gordon Purchases a Cotton Mill in Mississippi.

Jackson (Miss.) Comet.

Colonel Walter S. Gordon, of Alabama, one of the projectors of the Stansbury cotton mill, has located his new mill in Mississippi.

ATLANTA CONT.

There are still signed at Carrollton on Wednesday the 4th instant, and Colonel Gordon purchased money cash.

We have not learned the price paid, but we know that Colonel Gordon has purchased one of the most valuable pieces of property in the south. The building is a magnificent brick structure, built upon the modern plan, and it is said that if the machinery was moved out a regiment of men could be drilled in the main room. There are two powerful Corliss engines and a large lot of machinery in the building. The building and machinery originally cost $210,000.

We learn it is the intention of Colonel Gordon to purchase a large amount of new machinery, and to run the factory to its full capacity. It should prove a great benefit to the healthy town of Carrollton, on the hills, within a few miles of the Yazoo delta, where cotton is made cheaper, and can be purchased cheaper than in any section of the country. The Georgia Pacific railroad will run almost by its doors, and will give competition in freights.

The cotton mills in Mississippi have proved a disaster for the owners. The one at Wesson pays twenty per cent dividends, and the stock is worth over three hundred. Those at Enterprise and Natchez are said to pay as well. The cotton factories of Georgia and Alabama are immensely profitable, and the stock in them is almost a universal rule; it is away above par. This is not unusual, either, where the cotton is produced in the proper place to manufacture it. Enough cotton is made near Carrollton to supply the Stansbury mill, and sales for the manufactured fabric can be made without going out of the state. We wish, as we predict for Colonel Gordon great success in this, his new enterprise. He is a brother of ex-Senator John B. Gordon, of Georgia, and of Major Eugene C. Gordon, of Columbus, Miss. These three brothers have been wonderfully successful in all their undertakings, and we are glad that this section of country is attracting their attention. Let our legislature do all in its power to encourage manufacturing. The Stansbury mill is hereafter known as the Gordon cotton mills.

GEORGIA'S CAPABILITIES.

As Viewed by the Commissioner of Agriculture.

Yesterday a CONSTITUTION reporter was in the rooms of the department of agriculture, and had a short interview with Judge Henderson, state commissioner of agriculture, who was full of surprises for the newspaper.

After conversing for a time upon the affairs of the department in general, the reporter asked Commissioner Henderson how much the display of the state's resources which had been made by him at the exposition had cost. He replied:

"My entire expenditure for the exhibit was seven hundred and ten or seven hundred and twelve dollars. Not over seven hundred and twelve dollars, certainly. This covered all expenses for freights, drayage, carpenters and attendants."

"Did you have as varied a display as that made for Kansas by her railroads?"

"I would not like to say anything against the beautiful and artistic display which was made by Kansas; but really, even with our small expenditure, we showed a more varied exhibit. In fact, our display far exceeded that of all other practical purposes and was so pronounced by observant men who examined the two. Our grain was not in the shed and we could not make such a gorgeous exhibit. But we showed as fine, if not finer, corn and wheat than any other state was displaying upon the grounds. We commenced the collection of our exhibit at so late a day that we found it impossible to get the grain in the shed. I can go out into Georgia and collect specimens of finer wheat and corn than that was exhibited at the exposition. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, I understand, spent about twelve thousand dollars on the Kansas exhibit. I am satisfied that I could have taken half that amount and bought every article that I wanted for my exhibit, and still have made a finer display than that made by Kansas. The main difference in the two exhibits would have been this: Georgia would have shown what we make, where Kansas showed straw. We make finer heads of wheat in Georgia than those shown in the Kansas exhibit. But the principal feature of my exhibit, if I could have made a proper one, would have been its variety. If you mean to say that you saw that Kansas displayed a very little except corn, wheat, oats and millet. In the Georgia exhibit one man—Mr. John B. Gorman—made a display in which there were 267 articles exhibited as the various products of one farm. You may take away everything that was exhibited by Kansas and not let Georgia raise any of it and still our climate and soil will enable us to produce enough of the necessities and luxuries of life to make us prosperous and happy. We have a climate as varied as that which it takes the whole length of this continent to produce. For instance, with a latitude of from 30 to 35, we pass from a level with the sea to a height of 2,500 feet above it, and have the Blue Ridge mountains, which lay on to the Alleghenies, we have in summer a climate of New York. We have plenty of land that is 1,500 feet above the sea level, and where we sit now are five hundred feet above the city of Cincinnati. The climate in our State is the healthiest mountain climate, we have also the air and soil of the tropics. We had with our exhibit at the exposition some of the sweetest and most delicious oranges that I ever ate. They were Georgia raised."

"You spoke a moment ago of being able to live and prosper in Georgia without producing any of the products of the soil. How could such a thing as that be done?"

"We would not find such a thing very attractive in our kind of civilization, but at the same time it could be done. We have arrow root, sweet potatoes, rice, chufas, sugar cane, ground nuts, cotton, tobacco, and tropical fruits, such as oranges, lemons, and apples, etc. We can keep body and soul together in a very acceptable way."

"Have you brought back any portions of the display to be put on permanent exhibition in the department here?"

"Yes, I have quite a number of attractive things which I have preserved. Among other things I have here a very fine stalk of cotton from the plantation of Dr. Latimer, of Steward county. It has very fine bolls, and is one of the most beautiful specimens I have ever seen. I shall keep it in a glass case and give it a prominent place here."

THE CITIZENS' BANK MATTER.

Not Dead, Only the Lull Between the Terms of Court.

Of late the question is frequently asked, and the idea no doubt prevails, that the crusade against the perpetrators of the Citizens Bank funds is virtually ended. All those interested are now assured that such is not the fact. The money, social influence, and the great amount of crookedness which has been developed, could prevail in this case, it would long since have proved a miserable failure. Fortunately for the sufferers, those having the cause in charge are actuated by the highest motives, and while ready and anxious for the ordeal at the last term of the court, they abide the time set for the trial in April next, which is now not far off, and all should be Time is a great essential to the account, for with time men die or are spirited away, and the places that once knew them know them no more. With the elements against them, the committee and their counsel are using the time given to strengthen their position, and feel assured of a successful issue to their labors.

Those under indictment, if conscious of guilt or complicity, should not lay the flat guano of complacency for the benefit of justice. Be allowed to languish in the hands of the law, and our city and of the state is to be vindicated, and there can be no higher incentive for the use of all lawful means in bringing about the punishment of the guilty.

DEATH OF THE OLD YEAR.

The snow lay thickly o'er the ground,
The night was bleak and cold,
The old year closed, and round
Gazed on the frozen mound.

The north wind whistled o'er the world,
The bright stars shone and paled;
And dying lay the grey old year,
His bleeding wounds unmailed.

He lay upon his couch of snow,
The north wind howled below;
The old moon went behind a cloud,
His life was ebbing now!

"Oh! has my life been all in vain?"
Thus cried the dying year,
"I have done nothing but good,
The time that I've been here."

"I've scattered snow o'er all the ground,
I've blown it all away,
I've watched the tender flowers grow,
And bloom amid the day."

"I'll soon be laid to rest you exist,
Within the sepulchre of Time,
With snow-wreaths on my breast."

The distant town clock struck twelve,
The old year's race is run;
His eyes are closed, he'll never see
Another rising sun.

Mournfully the sad wind searched
Each field and every grove;
To find some tender growing buds
To strew the old year's shroud.

The wind can find no blossom rare
To deck that couch of snow,
While winter's reign is on the air,
Ere the grey old year.

And earth doth smile in joy once more—
The New Year now is here,
While Monarch Time with tender hands
Ere the grey old year.

CHINESE DECAPITATION.

The Fate of a Young Pictorial Who Fell in Love.

NEW HAVEN, January 10.—Among the Chinese students who came to this country to obtain an education were two bright boys named Chin Chin Yate and Chin Chin Chan, who came to this city. They were brothers, and entered the Hopkins grammar school, where they made good progress in preparation for Yale college. While in this city they boarded in the family of Mr. Vester, No. 30 Kensington street. When the students in this country were recalled by the orders of the Chinese government, last May the two brothers left for Hartford, where they learned the telegraph business, and later on returned to China. During their residence on Kensington street, Chan became interested in a young lady named Sherman, living near by. This fancy was strongly opposed on the part of Miss Sherman's friends, but Chan's attentions were continued, and were only interrupted by the departure of the young celestial. The acquaintance was kept up, however, and Chan has corresponded with the lady ever since. The principal reason for recalling the Chinese students was the fear, on the part of the authorities, that they were being seduced by American girls, and that they would marry American wives. They were here at government expense, the object being to have them return to their native country with power to introduce American civilization. Advice received here state that Chan's persistence in his devotion to Miss Sherman coming to the knowledge of the Chinese authorities, the young man was condemned to death, and, according to Chinese customs, was beheaded in Hong Kong.

Another instance, showing the narrowness of the policy of the Chinese government, is the fact that a young Chinaman now living in the family of the late Dr. Bacon, having become converted to Christianity, was advised by the Chinese authorities to return to his native country, as his return to his native country would be the signal of his death. He therefore remains in this country and will study for the ministry. One of the latest labors of Dr. Bacon was in arranging for the young man's education.

OUR GROWING AGRICULTURE.

Assembling of the Agricultural Convention in Washington.

WASHINGTON, January 10.—In pursuance of a call for a convention issued in July last by the commissioner of agriculture to the agricultural societies and colleges of the United States, one hundred and fifty delegates from eighteen states and the Indian Territory assembled in the library of the department of agriculture yesterday morning.

The convention was called to order at 11 o'clock by Mr. Loring, commissioner of agriculture, who stated the objects of the call and submitted a programme for the government of the proceedings.

The programme was adopted and a permanent organization effected by the election of Mr. Loring as chairman, and Henry E. Alvord, of New York, as secretary of the convention, and a vice-president from each state.

The usual committees were appointed, and topics selected for discussion by the first convention, colleges and agricultural societies, and those questions which belong to agricultural education and the organization of schools, colleges and associations.

Under the programme two days will be devoted to each subject. The discussion was opened by Mr. George H. Cook, of New York, who read a paper entitled "Agricultural education." At the conclusion of the reading, which occupied some time, a lively discussion upon it ensued, which was participated in by Messrs. E. S. Gold of Connecticut, J. A. Fernald, president of Maine agricultural college, Mr. Alvord of New York,

THE SMALL-POX.

There is no limit to the Territory or Intensity.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., January 10.—The state board of health is kept unusually busy at present wrestling with the small-pox epidemic prevailing in Illinois. Cases have been reported to the board within six weeks from sixty-one points in the state, about forty of which are still infected, although the disease is fairly under control at most of the places.

At Broadport the authorities have refused to co-operate with the health officers. The disease appears at present to be spreading through the counties along the Mississippi river from Dubuque down, the points of infection having been reported from twenty out of eighteen Mississippi counties. A circular will at once be issued to steamboat officers requesting them to enforce the vaccination of all their hands. If this is not complied with, river boats will be directed to prevent the disease from landing which have not properly protected their crews by vaccination.

TOMAH, Wis., January 10.—Small-pox has broken out at Mather, a small station fifteen miles north of here. One death and ten cases have been reported. The inhabitants are scattering in all directions.

LOCAL TIN-TYPES.

FROM OUR REPORTERS' POCKET CAMERAS.

Yesterday in the City—What was Done and Said by Home-Folk and Strangers—The Doings of the Town as Taken on the Fly—in and about the Courts and Departments.

THE DELINQUENTS.—Yesterday City Marshal Joyner was busily engaged in notifying those persons who have failed to pay their street tax that they must settle forthwith or be interviewed by the recorder.

TO DAHLONEGA.—Dr. Hane has just received a letter from the professors of the Agricultural college at Dahlonega, asking him to come to that place at his earliest convenience, to superintend the "laying out" of the fruit gardens.

TRINITY CHURCH.—Social meeting this evening at 7:15. Topic: Divine Chastisement a Blessing. Brief talks by Dr. Miller, Colonel Westmoreland and Judge Lester. Congregation cordially invited. Services hold sixty minutes.

TO MEXICO.—Mr. R. H. Rose, an industrious young journalist of Cincinnati, who has been here attending the exposition, and Mr. E. G. Blackwell, will leave the city to-day for Orizaba, Mexico, where they will attend the exposition now going on at that city.

TO JAIL.—Yesterday Tom Brown, an individual of color, was before Justice Tanner, charged with stealing a show case from a man named Zinser. The stealing is said to have occurred Saturday night. After hearing the evidence, Brown was sent to jail to await a final trial.

ADJUDGED INSANE.—Yesterday Andrew Hesterly was tried before Judge Calhoun on a writ of lunacy. He was adjudged insane and application for his admission to the state asylum for the insane was forwarded to Milledgeville. At present Hesterly is confined in the county prison.

UNDER BOND.—Yesterday John L. Williams and James Williams were before Commissioner Buck on a bench warrant charging them with obstructing a United States marshal in the discharge of his duty. The former was put under a bond of $700 and the latter was required to give bond in the sum of $500.

MUCH MUD.—The late rains have put the streets in a frightfully muddy condition. The public roads leading from the city are also in bad condition, some of them almost impassable on account of the mud. A gang of street hands are kept at work in the business part of the city cleaning the crossings of mud.

THE DRUMMER.—The first number of this journal has made its appearance. It is a handsome eight page paper, and is, of course, published in the interest of the commercial traveler. Mr. W. H. Reid, a young gentleman of fine business qualifications, is the manager, and H. H. Dickson, the publisher.

SALE OF THE EXPOSITION HOTEL FURNITURE.—Yesterday a large crowd attended the sale of furniture and fixtures at the Exposition hotel. The sales were made by auction and the articles went high. The furniture was nearly all bought by P. H. Snook, from whom it was purchased at the opening of the exposition.

THE STREET COMMISSION.—The street commissioners convened in called session yesterday evening at police headquarters. There was present a full board, and the meeting was one of great interest. The deplorable condition of the streets was discussed and measures looking to early improvement were considered.

STEALING CHAIRS.—George Harrison, a colored chair repairer, is wanted in several sections of the city. George has been in the habit of calling at houses and soliciting work. He carried the chairs away, and after mending sold them to other parties. George, if caught by the police, will probably abandon his present trade for a term.

LOST POCKET-BOOK.—At the carshed yesterday morning a lady created quite a commotion in the ladies' saloon by announcing in a loud voice the loss of her pocket-book. A close search failed to discover the lost treasure, and then the impression went abroad that pickpockets still infest Atlanta. The pocket-book belonged to a Mrs. Mawby and contained sixty-seven dollars.

THROWN FROM A HORSE.—Tom Hartman, a negro boy, was severely injured by being thrown from a horse yesterday morning on Garnett street. He was riding the animal along quietly, when a boy threw a stone, striking him on the side and causing him to run away. By a sudden turn from Garnett into Lloyd street, Tom lost his balance and fell. A sprained ankle and a bruised side were the results of the fall.

PROFESSOR D. CLARK WHEELER will deliver a free lecture at the house of representatives on Thursday evening, January 12th. Subject: Rocky Mountain Wood-Land—Mines and Mining. Professor Wheeler was Colorado's representative at the exposition, and is a gentleman well acquainted with the resources of the Rockies, having spent much of his life as an explorer and mining engineer. His lecture will be both interesting and instructive.

A VALUABLE ACQUISITION.—Mr. James K. Swan, who was on yesterday elected president of the Atlanta national bank, will, it is a need to be made, make Atlanta his future home. If so, he will prove a valuable acquisition to our business circles. He is a capitalist of broad and liberal ideas, and has stood prominently in New York and all the important financial circles. He will do much to push Atlanta up to a new greatness.

HURT BY A BRICK.—Yesterday afternoon as Mr. James Logan, a Mechanic street resident, was passing along Marietta street, and when beside a new brick house, upon which bricklayers were working, a brick slipped from the hands of one of the bricklayers and fell upon Mr. Logan's head. The blow was a hard one, and the gentleman was knocked to the ground where he lay until removed by persons who witnessed the accident. A bad scalp wound was the result of the bricklayer's carelessness.

A NEW MEDICAL SOCIETY.—A number of Atlanta physicians have formed a new medical society to be called "The Atlanta Medical Society." The first meeting was held Monday in the rooms of the Mutual relief association. Dr. W. S. Armstrong was elected president, and Dr. W. D. Bizzell, secretary. The meetings will be held on the first and third Saturday nights in each month, and will be conducted and made profitable by lectures and essays on matters important to the profession.

TO LOTTA.—The following is a copy of a post card written to Lotta by one of Atlanta's school girls: Beautiful Lotta—Do, pray, please, name, give me a letter, and play "Bob" in Atlanta. So many of us girls want to see you, but can't get $3.00 at a time in pin money. If you will give a five cent, fifty cent, and one dollar, you would have the biggest house on record. Now you'll see splendid, glorious, jolly, rollicking, smashing, darling, bewitching Lotta? Then you have the blessing of a thousand school girls who have not any bean's to foot the bills at the opera house.

THE BARED ARMS.—Yesterday was a busy day at the vaccination office. Dr. Cummings has two assistants, and they are now vaccinating about a hundred persons a day. Additional room in the building has been secured, and in view of the near approach of the season, every effort is being made to vaccinate the entire unprotected part of the city's population. A call-box is said to be at Chattanooga.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

Rheumatism Neuralgia

Sprains, Pain in the Back and Side.

There is nothing more painful than these diseases; but the pain can be removed and the disease cured by use of PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER. This remedy is not a cheap Benzoin or Petroleum product that must be kept away from fire or heat to avoid danger of explosion, nor is it an untried experiment that may do more harm than good.

PAIN KILLER has been in constant use for forty years, and the universal testimony from all parts of the world is, IT NEVER FAILS. It not only effects a permanent cure, but it relieves pain almost instantaneously. Being a purely vegetable remedy, it is safe in the hands of the most inexperienced.

The record of cures by the use of PAIN KILLER would fill volumes. The following extracts from letters received show what those who have tried it think:

Edgar Cady, Owatonna, Minn., says: "I have used your PAIN KILLER for rheumatism, and have received great benefit. I have used it for thirty years, and have found it a never-failing remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia."

Charles Powell writes from the Ballors' Room, London: "I had been afflicted three years with neuralgia and violent rheumatism of the stomach. The doctor at Westminster Hospital gave me your PAIN KILLER, and I received immediate relief. I have remained my usual health, and am now able to follow my usual occupation."

Mr. Burdett writes: "I have used your PAIN KILLER for rheumatism, and have found it a never-failing remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia."
